Welcome

to Equine-Assisted Learning (EAL)

Specially designed to develop leadership and life skills for a variety of needs and applications, the EAL Certified Building Block™ Program Series® brings out the best in participants of any age, skill level or profession

Don't ride? Doesn't matter.

EAL is not about riding or horsemanship. Lessons are learned out of the saddle and on the ground, using horses as powerful teaching tools in a safe and non-threatening environment.

Engage in team-focused exercises, working with horses in a safe, fun and exciting atmosphere that will open doors to a new way of seeing yourself.

Why Horses?

We get asked that a lot.

The answer lies in the innate sensitivity of horses, their acute awareness of their surroundings and their quick reaction to their environment.

In a horse's world, the rules are clear and easy to understand. Horses look for strong leadership and are willing to follow those they can trust and respect.

By their intuitive nature and extreme sensitivity, horses can provide course facilitators with a window into the personality and leadership style of workshop participants.

Our Certified Equine-Assisted Learning Specialists are horse professionals, trained to read and interpret the horses' non-verbal communication and use it to guide participants to acute self-discovery and life-altering change.

Horses do the teaching, while facilitators work with participants to interpret the lessons learned and apply them to real-life situations.
